State Legislative Coffee Hour:

Over the past year, I have had a number of community members ask how they can connect locally with their Michigan Legislators. I have directed individuals to the following websites:

Senator Lana Theis, 22nd District:

www.senatorlanatheis.com

Representative Hank Vaupel, District 47:

gohouse.org/representatives/southeast/vaupel

Representative Ann Bollin, District 42:

I have also organized a Meet Your Legislator coffee hour for Monday, April 29, 2019 from 8:30 AM until 9:30 AM. The event will be held in the Hartland Consolidated School District Professional Development Center located at 9525 E. Highland Road, Howell, MI, 48843. All residents living in the Hartland Consolidated School District are welcome to attend. The format will include a half hour for our legislators to share what is happening in Lansing and a half hour to answer questions from the audience. I look forward to seeing you and interacting with our State Legislators on April 29, 2019.

Collaborative Effort Becomes A Reality:

Over the past four years the school district has been partnering with Cromaïne Library, Hartland Township, and the Hartland Area Chamber of Commerce to develop a social media footprint that connects us together. We are proud to release the new and improved Hartland Living project to ensure that the community has a "one stop" place to view a community calendar, get information on the latest news and happenings, and access the four partners. Take a few minutes to check us out at the following sites:

April 2019 Person of the Month: Kristen Murphy

I am a fourth grade teacher at Creekside Elementary. I have been teaching in Hartland for 13 years. I have a Bachelor of Science with Elementary Education from Western Michigan University and a Masters in Educational Leadership from Eastern Michigan University.

I have been happily married to my husband Brian for 11 years. We have 3 wonderful children, ages 10, 8, and 6 who also attend Creekside Elementary. Our children make life very exciting and simply spending time together as a family is one of our favorite activities.

During my time at Creekside, I have had the opportunity to be involved in many teams within the building and district. These teams include the District Science Committee, School Improvement Building Chair, member of the Social Emotional Learning Team, and the Building Leadership Team.

One of my most memorable moments would have to be the 4th Grade annual Mackinac Island field trip. This 2-day trip allows us as teachers to spend time with our students and their family members outside of the classroom. Countless memories have been made with teachers and students through the years.

I couldn't imagine teaching anywhere else! This district has given me the opportunity to grow and learn as an educator. I have developed so many friendships with the staff and Creekside families.

During my career in the Hartland school district, I've had the opportunity to work with so many talented and inspirational teachers that have acted as mentors and friends to me. This is one of many reasons I've made Creekside and the Hartland community part of my family. I'm excited to come into the classroom and watch my students learn new concepts and grow as individuals. My students' success is my motivation.

I'm proud to be a teacher in the Hartland School District. I've enrolled my three children through school of choice at Creekside because of the amazing teaching staff and the community that Hartland Schools offers. There is a family-like atmosphere that brings comfort to me as both a teacher and a mother of three students.

From the Hartland Area Community Council

The 84th Memorial Day event is around the corner—May 26 and May 27--and we are excited! The planners in the Hartland Area Community Council have made every effort to bring another well-organized parade and we're counting on you and good weather for it to be well-attended.

If you want your advertisement in front of over a thousand readers of the Memorial Day Parade Booklet, distributed two weeks in advance of the parade, the advertisement form is at www.hartlandcommunitycouncil.org. Ad rates are the same as in 2018. Deadline is April 15!

If you want a table or booth in Epley Park, the application form is at www.hartlandcommunitycouncil.org. Deadline May 6!

If you want to be IN the parade with the bands, the floats, the walkers, the bikes, the historic vehicles, the horses, and, MOST IMPORTANT, our heroes and veterans, the parade entry form is at www.hartlandcommunitycouncil.org. Deadline is May 18, 2019!

Memorial Day weekend events begin Sunday, May 26 with The Evening Salute to Our Heroes in the Hartland Burying Ground--the cemetery--across from Cromaine District Library on Hartland Road. Hartland High School History Club students will re-enact the heroes who "reside" in the cemetery between 6 and 7 PM. The memorial service begins at 7 PM. Taps will be played at 9:00 pm. Do not miss this moving event, an integral part of the Memorial Day commemoration for many years. Hartland Band Boosters Pancake Breakfast fundraiser at Village Elementary (7:30–10:30 AM) and services in both Parshallville and Hartland cemeteries precede the parade which kicks off at noon on Monday, May 27 from the Hartland Middle School at Ore Creek.

Maps showing road closures and parking lots are available at locations throughout the community. No roadside parking is permitted; entry to the parade staging area (Hartland Road from Dunham to Crouse) is prohibited once roads close.

This is an all-out, everyone welcome, community event for the Hartland area and the biggest Memorial Day Parade in the County. Be sure to invite your friends and neighbors!

Students were assigned to research a source of energy for its pros, cons, and environmental impacts, such as coal, geothermal, and hydroelectric. Students then traveled around the classroom comparing and contrasting energy sources, to put together a master graphic organizer of energy. Students loved the activity!

Mr. Brad Laibly and roughly half of the high school band program along with 26 chaperones, 3 directors, and 1 color guard instructor recently toured the nation's capital. During the course of the 4-day trip, students were able to participate in a clinic with nationally known saxophonist Greg Twombly as well as publicly perform on the steps in front of the Lincoln Memorial. Members of the band also paid their respects at Arlington National Cemetery by laying a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and visiting the gravesite of John F. Kennedy. To cap off the weekend, the band took in a performance by the National Symphony Orchestra which highlighted the 50th anniversary of the Apollo moon landing and took an in-depth tour of the Capitol building. March Students of the Month

Dominick Marinelli, seventh grade Student of the Month.

Each month, a selection committee at Hartland Middle School selects one seventh and one eighth grade student to receive recognition as "Students of the Month." Nominated students must meet one or more of the following criteria in order to be selected.

- The student must show continued success in all subjects
- The student must exhibit good citizenship.
- The student must make a significant positive contribution to the school and others.
- The student must exhibit a positive attitude toward school, self, and others.

Congratulations to our March Students of the Month, Carmen Pushman, Dominick Marinelli, Ashton Smith and David Jackson.

Detroit Institute Of Arts Field Trip

All HMS eighth graders will have the opportunity to visit the Detroit Institute of Arts this April. Look for information to come home from eighth grade English teachers Matt Turney, Jill Bliznik, Karen Condra, and Angela Schneider. The teachers visit the museum in preparation, mapping out the exhibits and organizing an art "scavenger hunt." Students tour the museum and select one piece of art to write about for class. Museum officials consistently praise our students for their excellent behavior and teachers and parent chaperones for the outstanding organization. Museum officials recently acknowledged HMS by saying "It is with great pleasure that I share with you what wonderful educators you have...the students were very well prepared for their museum experience...your students [were] organized and ready to enjoy their day in the museum....You should be very proud sir, all three days that Hartland Middle School was here at the DIA. The students were very well behaved and exhibited appropriate museum etiquette. From the entire staff of the DIA I wanted to express to you how important that preparation is in advance of their arrival. I am confident that they enjoyed their time here; as did the DIA staff enjoy their visit. The feedback I received from the DIA staff, Gallery Attendants and DIA Security was all positive and very complimentary of your students. Please express my gratitude to your staff and to all of the students for their exemplary behavior. We look forward to welcoming your teachers and the students of Hartland Middle School back to the DIA very soon."

HHS and HMS Collaboration

The Hartland High School Intro to Programming students came to the Hartland Middle School on March 7 to interview some of our middle school students. They are going to design a computer video game tailored to the interests of each student, but with an academic purpose as well. They spent a class period asking our middle schoolers what they liked in video games, and what they did not. They also asked where they struggle academically. In a couple of weeks, our students will test their personalized video games and give feedback to the programmers to tweak. Thank you to HHS teacher Mrs. Hasseld and HMS Assistant Principal Alice Lashbrook, who made this collaboration possible.

Essential Instructional Practices in Early Literacy

Here, at Hartland Preschool, we have adopted the ten recommended instructional practices as developed by the Early Literacy Task Force. Each month we will be exploring two of the practices that we perform in our classrooms. These important tips not only demonstrate what we practice in the preschool classrooms but are also important to nurture a well-rounded child as they enter elementary school and beyond.

The Instructional practices were developed by the Michigan Association of Intermediate School Administrators General Education Leadership Network (GELN) Early Literacy Task Force (2016). Essential instructional practices in early literacy: Prekindergarten, Lansing, MI: Authors.

Mrs. Dawn Lubeski and Mrs. Kristy See will highlight the third and fourth Instructional Practices of the GELN.

The third component of the GELN is Interactive read aloud with comprehension and vocabulary focus. Every day we are reading a variety of books to our students. We are building from their prior knowledge and adding new vocabulary. We are also looking for comprehension. Many times we will start by asking about the cover of the book (What could this book be about? Who may be the main characters?) As we begin to read the book, we may ask intriguing questions (What could happen if the character does this?). At the conclusion of the book, we will have a discussion about the story and ask why or how did this happen?

The fourth component of the GELN is Play with sounds inside words. Just by singing a song as an adult, we hear rhyming words. Children may not know that those are rhyming words unless we make them aware. Rhyming at any time of the day, in the car, at the store, words or non-sense words (Target, marget, barget and pen, ben, fen) will increase your child's awareness of rhyming words. We like to reread a line or two in a book and ask students if they heard the sound. This is also the first step to Phonemic Awareness. Having a child say their name over and over and listening for other words that may begin with the same letter is exciting for them to discover! Also notice the word play. We may ask a student to stand if your name starts with an "mmm" sound. Imagine the thrill for the child when they discover "That's what my name sounds like!!" Preschool is such an exciting journey for children and we truly love to see that excitement at Hartland Preschool!! Please review our class offerings and come visit and register with us soon!

Are we overprotecting our children?

Are we really asking the right question?

Instead of writing in generalities or concepts, I feel it's much more powerful and valuable to share actual situations or questions I encounter from our parents. Here is part of a recent email from a mother with a very common question. (I have changed the names.)

"...My daughter Kreslyn is very shy and reserved around other people and I'd like her to build some confidence before starting kindergarten in the fall. She was born with hearing and speech problems and is also an only child so I suppose she's always been a bit overprotected. Sometimes I don't feel like I'm challenging her enough. But since she's so sensitive it can be hard to know when is the right time to push and when to let things go. I guess I want to make sure I do everything I can to help her reach her potential and teach her that the best things in life come from doing things that are difficult..."

Here is part of my response back: "...You can tell Kreslyn I was also very shy when I was young. Shyness is near and dear to my heart. I wish someone had taught me when I was young that shyness is just a fear. I love to teach children and parents the phrase "Every time I back away from a fear the FEAR gets bigger, but every time I power through a fear I get bigger!" Being sensitive is a very good thing in all children, but it should never be allowed to be an excuse or crutch for backing away from anything."

Here is the key to how you (and we) can help Kreslyn. Make Kreslyn face discomfort often and help her power through it. Then make her do things she does not want to do often. Both have to be done consistently and frequently. The intensity of these emotions need to be increased with success and time. This builds "strong" children. Doing the opposite develops weak children. Tell Kreslyn karate is hard work. Kids need to skin their knees and eat dirt!

Don't worry it is very natural for parents to protect their children. Parents have to work hard to stand back. I am sure you have seen this on the internet recently: "First child eats dirt, parent calls the doctor. Second child eats dirt, parent cleans out his mouth. Three child eats dirt, parent wonders if she really needs to feed him lunch."

So, "Are we overprotecting our child?" Let's start by backing up a little. When human babies are born they need someone 24/7 to care and do almost everything for them in order to survive. Thank goodness mothers are hard wired to do this! But this can work against us as our children grow up. Add to this the excessive and counterproductive fear and paranoia we have for everything from abductions, to the flu, to school shootings, to bad weather. No wonder we never let them play outside on their own. We solve all their problems and we cover them in anti-bacterial soap.

I believe the question is not "Are we overprotecting our children?" but instead "Are we SHIFTING our roles as parents as our children grow and develop?"

If we treat and care for our children like we did in their first six months of life they will become weak. The four good stresses of fear, hardship, failure and boredom makes us stronger! You need to shift your role as a parent so your children get the progressively higher levels of the good stress they need in order to grow strong.

Here is the key, you need to make these role shifts as a parent to raise strong, independent and successful children. You must go from Caregiver/Teacher to Manager/Coach to Consultant/Mentor. When the shift occurs may be different for each child but I think if you are perceptive it will be easy to tell.

So, the real question is: Are you shifting your role as a parent? Are you still treating your 8 year old more like a six month old? How about your 13 year old? Now about your 18 year old?

Yours for stronger kids,
Sensei

Hartland High School Robotics

On March 1st, Hartland High School's FIRST Robotics Competition (FRC) team, 3536 the Electro Eagles, competed in their first robotics tournament of the 2019 season. The team placed fifteenth out of forty teams in the qualification matches and were later chosen as the sixth seed alliance's first pick for the final matches. It was an exhausting weekend for not only the members of the Electro Eagles, but also their robot, as during the first quarter final match, the robot's wheel fell off. Although the wheel falling off was certainly a road block, the team quickly repaired it and went on to compete in the quarter final match, where they were unfortunately lost. At the end of the tournament, the Electro Eagles were awarded the Innovation in Control Award sponsored by Rockwell Automation. This award celebrates teams with excellence in control systems.

The Hartland High School, First Robotics Competition (FRC) team, the Electro Eagles competed at the Milford District Tournament on March 8th and 9th. The Eagles finished the qualification matches in fifth place out of forty teams. In the playoffs, the Hartland Electro Eagles defeated teams from Howell and Whitmore Lake. The Electro Eagles advanced to the finals but were defeated by Brighton.

During the award ceremonies, Hartland was awarded with the Engineering Inspiration award. This award celebrates a team that shares their passion for STEM with their community and others. At the end of March, the Electro Eagles will head north to Alpena to compete in a tournament. They are well on their way to earning an invitation to the Michigan District Championship in April at Saginaw Valley State University.
