How are public K-12 schools funded in Michigan?

During the lead up to the passing of the August 2020 Bond, I regularly updated the community on school funding issues. To the right you will find a School Aid Fund chart showing where dollars come from that support schools.

Often, I am asked the question from community members, "I don't know why you need money when you get all that lottery revenue." The reality is that the lottery only accounts for about 7% of the overall School Aid Fund. You will note that there is a property tax portion which comes from the 6 mills that every property owner pays to the State of Michigan. Local districts then ask for additional mills as we did in August to pay for building enhancements, buses, technology upgrades, etc. Here is a great link to explore if you have additional questions about school funding: www.michigan.gov/budget/0,9357,7-379-88601_91413_91645-139075--,00.html.

Unfortunately, the State of Michigan has been using this fund to support colleges and universities and other programs. In 2020-21 the amount used to support these programs is budgeted at $978,080,500 of the School Aid Fund. A frustration that I continue to feel is that the State of Michigan often changes the allocation components of this fund, which usually results in less dollars flowing into the local districts.

If you have questions about school funding, please do not hesitate to reach out to me at 810-626-2100 or chuckhughes@hartlandschools.us.

March 2021 Person of the Month: Natalie Moulton

I graduated with a BA in elementary education from U of M and have been a Wolverine fan ever since! I recently obtained my master's degree in curriculum and instruction. Before coming to Hartland, I taught at Bendle Public Schools and was a hospital teacher for kindergarten-12th grade students at C.S. Mott Children's Hospital. They both hold a special place in my heart and led me to where I am now—teaching in Hartland!

This is my third-year teaching first grade in Hartland. Out of the 10 years I've been teaching, I have found my dream job working at Creekside and with our wonderful Hartland community. The families, my sweet students and our amazing staff make Hartland such a special place to work and raise a family.

My husband Dustin and I have two children. Olivia is in 7th grade at the middle school and Lucas is in 5th grade at Farms. We've been a part of several volunteer opportunities but ringing the bell for the Salvation Army is always a family favorite in our household. Not only are we raising money for a wonderful cause, but we also get to sing Christmas carols! It gives us a great excuse to belt out some carols, all while benefiting our community.

I have many memorable moments, both as a parent and teacher in the district. In first grade, kids can say the funniest things, without even trying to catch a laugh. This happens so often, so I keep a "kidism" book, where I collect funny quotes from them. One of my favorites is when I asked why one of my students was absent. He replied with "well, I cannot tell you because I played hooky". Aside from their funniness, my favorite times are when the community comes together for various events or holidays. Parents, students, teachers and administration rally up to make sure students have a memorable experience. That is truly what it's all about.

Hartland is unlike any other place. Before we found our home in Hartland, we drove our children from Davison; an hour-long one-way commute. Our family thought we were crazy, but it meant that much to us. We wanted our children to be surrounded by great teachers and caring people and that is what our schools provide. We care about each other when they're in and out of school. Even when I'm shopping at our local stores, I notice our community is kind, and that makes it feel like home. Our schools are the same way.

My children attended Round, and every time we stepped into the building we were always amazed how everyone made us feel. This is tremendously important, and I strive to make my students and families feel the same way. It's that feeling that will hopefully bring my previous students back to Hartland one day to raise their families. It's why I went into teaching—to make a difference and impact each and every one of my students. My journey has just begun in Hartland, and I'm eager and excited to continue to embrace my position with enthusiasm, compassion and a little bit of caroling!

Hartland schools has always impressed me with their dedication, collaboration, professionalism and the genuinely caring environment. My children have experienced teachers that go beyond the expectations, to show how much they care. My daughter still keeps in contact with her 3rd grade teacher (Mrs. Putman) who made a significant impact on her. As a parent and a teacher, I recognize these relationships are important and impact students far beyond the classroom. I've been amazed that my children have such strong mentors and teachers, and I'm grateful that I can provide the same to my students.

Transportation Information for the Upcoming School Year

It's time to start thinking about busing for the new school year. For your convenience, forms are now being accepted to ensure room on every bus to accommodate your transportation needs for the first day of school.

All transportation forms (Alternate Destination, Joint Custody, School of Choice and Legacy forms) will expire at the end of the 20/21 school year. If new forms are not submitted, in-district students will automatically be assigned to the closest bus stop to their home address and non-resident students will not receive a bus assignment.

The deadline for submitting forms to the Transportation Office to request a bus assignment other than the home address is June 15, 2021. Late transportation requests will not be considered until after the first 2 weeks of school.

The Transportation and Central Office staff will be available throughout the summer months if you should have any questions or need assistance. Post cards with your student's bus information should arrive a week before the first day of school.

Forms are now available on the district web site.

Hartland Schools Student Nutrition Team: Keeping Our Students Fed

The HCS Student Nutrition Department is committed to meeting the needs of ALL Hartland students. Our district wants to ensure that every student has access to school meals, regardless of how they are learning this year. We are providing meals to students in three different models.

ALL meals—breakfast and lunch—are FREE to ALL students this year due to a waiver from the USDA.

Our in-person students continue to be offered breakfast and lunch every in-person school day. We have served over 93,000 in-person lunch meals this year and over 22,000 in-person breakfasts. To help reduce the spread of COVID, our students are served all components of their meals. We have suspended all self-service areas, including condiments and utensils, to maintain a low-contact environment for our students.

ANY of our in-person students can receive meals to be eaten on their remote school days and weekends. We prepare meal packages every Thursday for our students to take home to be eaten on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. These packages are FREE to ALL students. We have served over 13,000 of these remote meals. If you are interested in having meals sent home with your student on Thursdays, please sign up on the student nutrition website.

Virtual students can have meals too! Our department has weekly curbside meal pickup for virtual students and any child ages 0-18 without access to school meals. Anyone in Livingston county can pick up a meal package for any child ages 0-18 that doesn't have access to meals, they do not need to be receiving services through Hartland Schools and they do not have to qualify for free meals. These meal pickups are scheduled every Friday at 1 PM (except in the case of a holiday break), at the High School pool parking loop. The weekly pick-up package includes 7 days of breakfast and lunch meals and is FREE. No need to sign-up, just show up at the scheduled pick up time. The schedule is updated monthly on the student nutrition website. Our district has served over 36,000 meals in this curbside meal program since August. We have received feedback from parents that this package also helps students to feel connected to school as these are some of the same foods that they are used to eating while in-person. We hope to see more families take advantage of this wonderful program; either to supplement current food options, fill a hunger gap, make a connection to in-person school, or just for extra food to feed hungry, growing children.

Food safety is a top priority for Student Nutrition. The department follows all of the federal, state and local food safety regulations. We also follow the MDE, CDC and FDA procedures to ensure that our kitchens and serving areas are safe and healthy. During these times of COVID, we continue to go above and beyond the health department minimums to maintain safety and sanitation in our kitchens and serving areas. This includes the use of PPE, plexiglass guards and additional cleaning and sanitation.

Hartland Schools is committed to making sure that students are fed and ready to learn regardless of their mode of instruction! If you have questions regarding any of the above programs, please see the Student Nutrition website www.hartlandschools.us/Departments/Student-Nutrition-Department/index.html. You can also call the department at 810-626-2868 or email LisaArchey@hartlandschools.us.

From the Counseling Office:

Going On College Campus Tours

Q: Is the fall of junior year too early to look at a few colleges?

A: We encourage parents and students to visit several college campuses during the sophomore and junior years primarily to gain a sense of the different types of colleges and environments that are available. You can select a group of colleges that represent different sizes and types of schools within easy travel distance from home. Students should get a note from the admissions office with the date they attended the tour. Documented campus visits do not count toward Hartland's attendance policy.

Q: What should I bring to a visit to a school?

A: The Counseling Office can provide your student with a list of questions to consider while on a campus tour, in addition students should bring a notebook to take notes during information sessions, write down immediate reactions to the campus and list key additional questions you'll need to answer about the institution. After five (or fifteen!) visits, you'll be glad you took the extra time to track your feelings about each school. Your notes will remind you about what you liked and disliked.

Q: What is one of the main things you need to know or do when you go to visit a college a campus?

A: First, you need to know why you're there. Spend time browsing a college's website to gain an initial sense of a place before you visit. Then develop an understanding of why you're visiting this college. How could it fit for you? What kind of college model is it (large, small, urban, rural, competitive, arts-oriented, etc.)? Second, consider a few questions related to your own interests that you would like to make sure you have answered. The most important criteria are the teachers, the academic program and the match you feel with the students on campus. So, don't focus too much on the food or the brand new student activities center. Consider what academic programs could be of interest to you, how the classes are run, and how students feel in general about their institution and their professors.

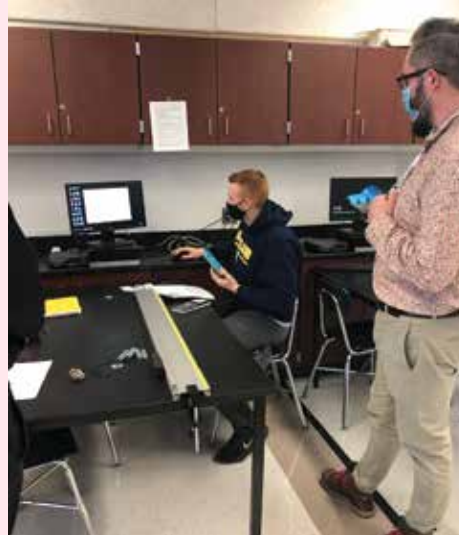

Q: Should parents/guardians attend college visits with their child?

A: Yes, at least one parent or guardian should try to accompany a student on the visits he or she makes to colleges. Having a parent along can help a student to bounce reactions and reflections off someone he or she knows and trusts. Parents are the number one influence on a student's choice of school. The key is to allow students to take the lead in campus visits, and to let them offer the first responses to any given place. It's OK to disagree about colleges, and to discuss varying viewpoints. The ensuing conversation can help a student continue to define what the best environment will be for him or herself.

Students in Mrs. Simpson's honors chemistry class explored periodic trends with an alien activity! Groups of students were given a population of aliens on paper, all of which had different number of eyes, fingers and expressions on their face. Using their knowledge of how trends in atoms evolve across the periodic table, students had to build their periodic table of aliens. They then had to make connections between what those different number of fingers, eyes and facial expressions on the aliens and the actual period table of element had in common! A fun way to find patterns in chemistry!

Students in Mr. Ben Jackson's physics class investigated Newton's 3rd Law of Motion using carts, weights and a "friction-less" track. Students graphed their findings, made observations and wrote conclusions as the weighted cart raced down the track with a sensor. Students saw and predicted the law based on their lab data. The next day in class, they derived the equation to show that for every action, there is an equal and opposite reaction!

Sociology students in Mrs. Teri Wozny's class participated in a team-building activity of "Cultural Heads up, 7-up!" As most of the class put their heads down, a group of students walked around the room gently pushing another student's thumb down. Before the student had to guess who pushed their thumb down, they had to reveal something about their own culture. Some students shared about their heritage, their family traditions, even what is served at holiday times! Mrs. Wozny builds a class relationship based on respect and safety before teaching the structure of human society and behavior.

New this year is the Cadet Teaching Program. Students signed up for a two-hour block class that allows them to investigate the teaching profession. Lessons cover how to present material, the importance of lesson planning, classroom management tips and how to make meaningful connections with students. Although our cadet teachers cannot get into actual classrooms yet, they are preparing virtual lessons and activities that will be shared and presented to all four Hartland elementary schools via the Cadet Teaching YouTube channel. One such project is an elementary book project about Valentine's Day, Black History Month or character building! Cadets will practice and record reading aloud, making personal comments and connections to the text as they read, as well as the art of asking questions to check for understanding. All elementary teachers in Hartland will have access to this. A BIG thank you to Mr. Dan Aldred and Mrs. Teri Wozny for heading the Cadet program at HHS! They are doing a spectacular job with out future educators!

Prodigy Math Competition Winners

Over the holiday break, our students were challenged to participate in a math tournament online through Prodigy. We had amazing participation and are extremely proud of their performance. The students that placed in the Top 10 at Village answered a total of 4,872 questions. WOW! We are so proud of your efforts.

The following students took the top three spots: Adam Gregory (answered 766 questions), Elliana Roth (answered 717 questions) and Colton Hense (answered 605 questions).

Valentine's Party Fun! We enjoyed a wonderful Valentine's Day at Village Elementary. Students shared cards, trinkets, and laughs with each other and their teachers.

Classroom Snapshot: Essentials

Our essentials teachers are amazing. Ms. Striz (P.E.), Mrs. Simmer (Music), Mrs. Tomy (Art) and Mrs. Hilling (Media) work diligently each day to enrich the lives of our Villagers. This year, students are participating in a two-week rotation through each of the classes. Not only has this change in scheduling allowed us to maintain Covid safety protocols, but it has provided our essentials teachers time to create multi-day projects and facilitate teaching week-long units. When we look back on this year, I believe that one of our silver linings will be this schedule change. It is a pleasure to watch our students learn and grow outside of the classroom and many teachers will often remark how wonderful it is to see their students excel in their essential classes. Thank you to our essential teachers who provide highly engaging instruction that challenges our students mentally and physically daily.

Mentors Matter!

What is a mentor?

A mentor is a more experienced and knowledgeable person who teaches and nurtures the development of a less experienced person.

What do they do?

Mentors have a wide variety of duties including developing and managing the mentoring relationship, sponsoring the mentee's developmental activities, monitoring the mentee's social emotional growth and well being, modeling effective leadership behavior, guiding and counseling, teaching, motivating as well as inspiring the mentee.

Why Mentor?

Mentoring provides meaningful connections that impact student success today and in the future!

HV... HEY. Talking with Toni.

Toni Scherer is an amazing social worker in the Hartland Consolidated School District. She works with a variety of secondary age students and provides a layer of support for navigating the emotional, social and behavioral hurdles that come with navigating adolescent transitions.

HVA students know that some transitions are more difficult than others! Going from face-to-face learning to the virtual classroom can be difficult for some students. A few students try to use online learning as a way to escape more systematic problems like anxiety or bullying. Yet even for the most adept students, the impacts of virtual studying can be real. Finding the best fit environment for all students is the goal of everyone.

Toni shares that lonely, isolated students may struggle to complete their work on time, fail to connect with other students or withdraw entirely from the learning community—virtual or face-to-face.

- Connecting with other students should be a top priority for online students. It is for HVA! Making connections helps students meet participation requirements, complete group assignments and study for tests.
- Connecting with their instructors is also a great way to get involved. Many online instructors offer virtual office hours and HVA instructors do too. Students can use these meetings to ask questions, receive guidance on projects or get extra help outside of class.
- Looking to the FUTURE: Online students are not limited to virtual connections. HVA has a lab that we welcome students daily to study or simply connect. Moreover we look forward to returning to pre-Covid programmings such as offering field trip opportunities and internships where online students connect.

Above: Mrs. Wright, HVA Mentor, and Mrs. Scherer work with HVA Middle Schoolers at their weekly academic Google Meet.

Welcome to Hartland Preschool!

Welcome to Mrs. Waldron and Mrs. Barr's preschool classroom!

Mrs. Waldron and Mrs. Barr teach our extended day classes for 4 year olds. Students spend their days learning how to work with their friends in academic groups as well as playing and exploring the room. Their preschoolers have been working hard at writing letters, numbers and even stories! The winter weather and Valentine holiday provided great opportunities for fun sensory play and fine motor activities! There is never a dull moment with Mrs. Waldron and Mrs. Barr!

Updates from the Childcare Center

Happy March! This month, we would like to highlight our Busy Bee classroom!

The Busy Bee class has children ages 2.5-3.5 years old. Our goal in Busy Bees is to provide your child with a safe and positive environment to grow and learn. We seek to empower every child, assisting him/her with mastering a variety of skills including appropriately expressing emotions, verbalizing needs, learning to take turns and share and promoting age-appropriate school readiness. During this older toddler stage of childhood, children learn through play and interaction. We have intentional times set aside throughout the day for learning activities and focus on language through the support of Zoo Phonics. Our staff encourage children to express themselves and play cooperatively.

Meet the teachers! Our lead teacher, Ms. Hayley, has been with the Hartland Child Care center for 3 years. Teaching alongside her are Ms. Mackenzie, Ms. Jena and Ms. Kallie. Our Busy Bee room is full of energetic, caring staff who love and support our older toddlers!

We offer before and after care. Call to register!

We offer before and after care for children who attend the Round, Village, Creekside, Lakes Elementary and Farms Intermediate School. The children who attend the Lakes or Farms may enroll at the School Street center or take advantage of the school age program at Lakes School. The School Street Center is open from 6 AM–6 PM. Lakes is open from 6:30 AM–6 PM. Both programs offer gym activities, arts and crafts and outside play. When you are signed up for the Before and After School Care, you also have the option of attending on the “No School” days or snow days! Our center is almost always open!

Our rates:

Infants: $50/day, $250/week (2-day minimum). Day Care: $42/day, $210/week (2-day a week minimum). Before and after school care is $10 per session for full time enrollment (5 days a week). Part time enrollment is $15 a session (2-3 days a week). The minimum enrollment is 2 sessions a week for a charge of $30 for the week. If your school aged child attends on a non-school day or a snow day, the cost is $45 per day.

We would love for your family to join us! If you are looking for child care, give us a call at 810-626-2780 or send an email to childcarecenter@hartlandschools.us to check availability.

Now hiring a toddler assistant teacher!

Interested in working with toddlers? We are looking for an experienced teacher to join our young toddler classroom. Responsibilities include diapering, feeding, leading activities with the children and engaging with them at their level. Applicants must be comfortable caring for multiple children at once in a busy environment and have the ability to lift and carry up to 25lbs. Financial Planning and Medicare

Not sure which Medicare plan to choose? After looking at the income you will have coming in when you retire—social security, pension, investments, etc.—you also need to look at some of the other expenses you will have when you no longer have health insurance covered by an employer. At 65, you become eligible for Medicare. Often, people may neglect to consider the importance of what they will have to pay for their supplemental health insurance to Medicare. Medicare claims they pay 80% of the charge but Medicare pays 80% of what they consider reasonable, therefore, it is important to know what type of coverage will fit your budget and your health status. There is also a Part B deductible that is taken out of your Social Security every month.

There are two basic types of Medicare plans available: Medigap (which typically covers more of the cost but only covers health care, you purchase a prescription plan separately) and Medicare Advantage (that has co-pays, but includes prescriptions with co-pays and some amount of assistance with dental, hearing aids, etc.) Because each plan has different coverage, it is important to look at all the plans closely. There are many factors to consider before making a choice, such as cost—what can you afford according to your budget—and your health status, including any pre-existing conditions. It is important to also note that supplemental plans to Medicare can increase in price every year. Medicare supplemental plans can also be changed during the open enrollment period (Oct. thru Dec.) as your health status changes or you feel a different plan would better meet your needs.

If you are turning 65, and need help understanding Medicare, call Carol Ringle, Certified Medicare Counselor, at 810-626-2139. I am not a salesperson but trained and certified by Medicare and am unbiased in reviewing the different options available. I am also available to review any questions or concerns you have with your current plan. Due to COVID-19, call to arrange an appointment, please no walk-ins.

Are we overprotecting our children? Are we really asking the right question?

Instead of writing in generalities or concepts, I feel it's much more powerful and valuable to share actual situations or questions I encounter from our parents. Here is part of a recent email from a mother with a very common question. (I have changed the names.)

"...My daughter Kreslyn is very shy and reserved around other people and I'd like her to build some confidence before starting kindergarten in the fall. She was born with hearing and speech problems and is also an only child so I suppose she's always been a bit overprotected. Sometimes I don't feel like I'm challenging her enough. But since she's so sensitive it can be hard to know when is the right time to push and when to let things go. I guess I want to make sure I do everything I can to help her reach her potential and teach her that the best things in life come from doing things that are difficult..."

Here is part of my response back: "...You can tell Kreslyn I was also very shy when I was young. Shyness is near and dear to my heart. I wish someone had taught me when I was young that shyness is just a fear. I love to teach children and parents the phrase "Every time I back away from a fear the FEAR gets bigger, but every time I power through a fear I get bigger!" Being sensitive is a very good thing in all children, but it should never be allowed to be an excuse or crutch for backing away from anything."

Here is the key to how you (and we) can help Kreslyn. Make Kreslyn face discomfort often and help her power through it. Then make her do things she does not want to do often. Both have to be done consistently and frequently. The intensity of these emotions need to be increased with success and time. This builds "strong" children. Doing the opposite develops weak children. Tell Kreslyn karate is hard work. Kids need to skin their knees and eat dirt!

Don't worry it is very natural for parents to protect their children. Parents have to work hard to stand back. I am sure you have seen this on the internet recently: "First child eats dirt, parent calls the doctor. Second child eats dirt, parent cleans out his mouth. Three child eats dirt, parent wonders if she really needs to feed him lunch."

So, "Are we overprotecting our child?" Let's start by backing up a little. When human babies are born they need someone 24/7 to care and do almost everything for them in order to survive. Thank goodness mothers are hard wired to do this! But this can work against us as our children grow up. Add to this the excessive and counterproductive fear and paranoia we have for everything from abductions, to the flu, to school shootings, to bad weather. No wonder we never let them play outside on their own. We solve all their problems and we cover them in anti-bacterial soap.

I believe the question is not "Are we overprotecting our children?" but instead "Are we SHIFTING our roles as parents as our children grow and develop?"

If we treat and care for our children like we did in their first six months of life they will become weak. The four good stresses of fear, hardship, failure and boredom makes us stronger! You need to shift your role as a parent so your children get the progressively higher levels of the good stress they need in order to grow strong.

Here is the key, you need to make these role shifts as a parent to raise strong, independent and successful children. You must go from Caregiver/Teacher to Manager/Coach to Consultant/Mentor. When the shift occurs may be different for each child but I think if you are perceptive it will be easy to tell.

So, the real question is: Are you shifting your role as a parent? Are you still treating your 8 year old more like a six month old? How about your 13 year old? Now about your 18 year old?

Yours for stronger kids,
Sensei

Hartland Students + Hartland Teachers = A Tradition Of Excellence

This school year has been a challenge, but Hartland Teachers have maintained in-person and remote classrooms, loving our students and our work.

Hartland Teachers also...

- Donated nearly $2,000 to Gleaners during the holiday season
- Maintain a food pantry at the high school for students, including packing weekend bags for students to take each Thursday
- Have provided and attended professional development focusing on effective remote and in-person teaching
- Donated hundreds of winter gear items like coats, boots, hats, and gloves to Bountiful Harvest, which benefits Livingston County families
- Attended national, state, and local conferences such as the Art of Education NOW Conference
- Volunteered time with the Salvation Army's Red Kettle Campaign - roughly 27 teachers collected just over $1,000 while bell ringing

Hartland SOUP Updates

On January 26, we hosted our very first Virtual Hartland SOUP. There were 3 presentations: South Mitten's Kittens Cat Rescue, Hartland High School Student Council and HAYAA Baseball/Softball. The winner of a $650 grant was South Mitten's Kittens! Thanks to our matching anonymous donor (that matches what we bring in through registration) the other two groups each received $75. Thank you to Cromaine District Library for letting us use the gorgeous Youth Program Room, their technology, and their ticketing site--while also covering the fees on the site to ensure each $5 donation went completely to the SOUP presenters. We would also like to thank The Hartland Foundation for once again providing the $500 starting grant. We don't have a spring SOUP on the calendar yet, as we are waiting for updated MDHHS guidelines before making plans. To stay up to date on future events, follow us on Facebook @HartlandSOUP. Keep making those plans and brainstorming ways to make Hartland an even better community!

HERO Teen Center News

We've had another great month at the HERO Hartland Teen Center. We had a Valentine's Day celebration including cupcakes, ice cream sundaes, candy and pizza. On birthdays we have cake and ice cream and make the birthday boy or girl feel special for the day. Students have been playing ping pong, foosball, board games, video games, creating art projects, playing music—and sometimes even studying and doing homework! Some come to the Teen Center before or after practice, others come almost every day to hang out in a safe and friendly "second home" environment. The team of directors—Danny, Steve, and Dalia and regular sub Jake—all agree that we have a wonderful group of teens this year!
